11 Ready to Build?

So you need a website for your business, but the thought of many pages and technical stuff makes your head spin? Worry less! A simple one-page website can work just as well as a complicated 20–page site.

This guide breaks it down step by step, plus a free toolkit to help you launch whenever you're ready.

01 Why One-Page Websites Work for Small Businesses

People want information fast, especially on their phones. A one-page website gives visitors everything they need without clicking through many pages.

Whether you make cakes in Ibadan, sell ankara in Aba or offer hair services in Abuja, a one-page site lets you tell your story clearly and guide visitors to one action, like sending you a WhatsApp message or buying your product.

It is also easier to keep up to date. No broken links or forgotten pages, just one page that stays current.

02 What Your One-Page Website Needs

Every good one-page site has the same basic sections:

- Header with your business name and contact details
- A short introduction to what you do
- Your main products or services
- Why customers should choose you
- A clear contact section or button (for example "Chat on WhatsApp")

Quick test: If someone spends 30 seconds on your page, will they understand what you do and how to reach you?

03 Free Tools to Build Without Coding

- Carrd: Drag-and-drop builder for one-page sites
- Google Sites: Completely free, works with your Google account
- Shopinbos: Free to start. Rex, the AI store builder, creates your store page for you, with payments and delivery built in.

If you mainly sell products, Shopinbos is the easiest. If you offer a service, Carrd or Google Sites work well.

04 Planning Your Content

Spend 20 minutes writing down what you want to say. Answer these questions:

- What problem do you solve for customers?
- What makes you different?
- What should visitors do after reading your page?

Keep your answers simple and friendly. Write like you're talking to a customer in your shop.

05 Design Basics That Look Professional

Simple usually looks more professional than busy.

Focus on:

- Plenty of empty space so it's easy to read
- 2–3 colours at most
- One clear, easy-to-read font
- Phone number or WhatsApp button visible without scrolling
- Clear, bright photos of your real products

06 Writing Words That Connect

Talk about how you help customers, not everything about your business.

Instead of: "We provide comprehensive beauty solutions" Say: "Natural shea butter and hair oils, delivered to your door anywhere in Lagos."

The 3-second rule: Someone should understand what you do within 3 seconds of opening your page.

07 Essential Sections in Order

Arrange your page like a story:

1. Header: Business name, short tagline, contact details
2. Top banner: One clear sentence about what you do
3. About: A short story about you and your business
4. Products or services: Main offers with simple descriptions and prices in naira
5. Reviews: Customer comments or screenshots of happy WhatsApp messages (with permission)

6. Contact: WhatsApp, phone, Instagram and your address or delivery areas

Keep each section short. People scan websites rather than reading every word.

08 Getting Your Website Online

Most website builders handle the technical side for you.

Simple steps:

- Choose a short domain name (.com.ng or .ng are good for Nigerian businesses)
- Connect the domain to your website builder
- Check that everything works on an Android phone
- Test your WhatsApp link, contact form and payment buttons (Paystack or Flutterwave payment links work well)

Use your business name for your domain if it's available.

09 Help People Find You

- Add your business to Google Business Profile (free and important)
- Mention your city and area naturally in your text, for example "Lekki, Lagos"
- Use the words your customers would search for
- Make sure your site loads fast, even on slow mobile data
