How to Use This Toolkit

This sales page template gives you everything you need to write your first high-converting sales page, even if you've never written a sales copy before. Work through each step in order, fill in the templates, and by the end, you'll have a complete sales page ready to publish.

What's Inside:

- 5-Step Sales Page Writing Process
- Fill-in-the-Blank Templates
- Headline Formula Library
- Power Words Bank
- CTA Examples
- Sales Page Checklist
- Self-Evaluation Scorecard

02 STEP 1: Research & Document Customer Language

Why This Matters

The best sales copy uses your customer's own words, not corporate jargon. This research phase helps you understand exactly how your ideal customers think, talk, and describe their problems.

Research Checklist

Complete at least 3 of these research activities:

- [ ] Read 20+ Amazon reviews of competitor products (focus on 3-star reviews for honest feedback)
- [ ] Browse 3-5 relevant subreddit threads
- [ ] Check comments on 5+ YouTube videos related to your product
- [ ] Review social media conversations (Facebook groups, Instagram comments, Twitter)
- [ ] Survey existing customers or email subscribers
- [ ] Analyze competitor sales pages and note what appeals to you

Customer Language Documentation Template

03 STEP 2: Create Your Sales Page Outline

The Proven Sales Page Structure

Use this framework for your outline. You'll fill in the details in later steps.

Your Sales Page Blueprint

1. HEADLINE Main benefit in 10 words or less:

2. SUBHEADLINE Expand on your promise (15–25 words):

3. OPENING HOOK (2–3 paragraphs)

- Paragraph 1: Identify the problem
- Paragraph 2: Agitate the pain point
- Paragraph 3: Introduce your solution

4. KEY BENEFITS SECTION List 3–5 main benefits (we'll expand these later):

Benefit 1: _____ Supporting feature: _____

Benefit 2: _____ Supporting feature: _____

Benefit 3: _____ Supporting feature: _____

Benefit 4: _____ Supporting feature: _____

Benefit 5: _____ Supporting feature: _____

5. SOCIAL PROOF SECTION What proof will you include?

- [ ] Expert endorsements
- [ ] Media mentions
- [ ] Certifications/awards
- [ ] User-generated content

6. PRODUCT DETAILS What specific information do customers need?

7. PRICING & GUARANTEE Price: $_____ Guarantee offered: _____

8. FAQ SECTION List 4–6 common questions:

1.
2.

3.
4.
5.
6.

9. FINAL CTA Your closing call-to-action:

04 STEP 3: Write Like You're Talking to a Friend

Conversational Writing Checklist

Before you start writing, review these guidelines:

DO:

- [ ] Use contractions (you're, don't, it's, we'll)
- [ ] Write in second person (you, your)
- [ ] Ask rhetorical questions
- [ ] Use short sentences (10–15 words average)
- [ ] Keep paragraphs to 2–3 sentences max
- [ ] Include personal anecdotes when relevant
- [ ] Read everything aloud to check flow

DON'T:

- [ ] Use industry jargon or technical terms
- [ ] Write in passive voice
- [ ] Create long, complex sentences
- [ ] Use corporate buzzwords
- [ ] Sound overly formal or stiff

Headline Formula Library

Choose one formula and customize it for your product:

Formula 1: Problem → Solution "Finally, [achieve desired result] without [common frustration]"
Example: "Finally, organize your entire week without spending hours planning"

Your version: _____

Formula 2: Transformation "Transform [current state] into [desired state] in [timeframe]" Example: "Transform cluttered closets into organized spaces in one weekend"

Your version: _____

Formula 3: Number + Benefit "[Number] ways to [achieve benefit] (even if [common objection])" Example: "5 ways to sleep better tonight (even if you've tried everything)"

Your version: _____

Formula 4: Question Format "What if you could [desired outcome] without [pain point]?" Example: "What if you could meal prep for the week without spending all Sunday cooking?"

Your version: _____

Formula 5: Before/After "Stop [current frustration]. Start [desired result]." Example: "Stop wasting money on gym memberships. Start working out effectively at home."

Your version: _____

Opening Hook Template

Problem Identification (Paragraph 1): Use this template:

"[Emotion] of [frustrating situation]? You're not alone. [Statistic or relatable scenario that validates their experience]."

Your version:

Agitate the Pain (Paragraph 2): Use this template:

"The worst part? [Deeper consequence of the problem]. Most [target audience] try [common failed solutions], only to [disappointing result]."

Your version:

Introduce Solution (Paragraph 3): Use this template:

"But what if there was a better way? [Product name] helps you [main benefit] without [main objection]."

Your version:

05 STEP 4: Use Formatting for Scannable Content

Visual Formatting Checklist

As you write your sales page, ensure you're using these formatting elements:

Text Formatting:

- [ ] Paragraph length: 2–3 sentences maximum
- [ ] Subheadings every 150–200 words
- [ ] Bullet points for lists
- [ ] Bold text for key phrases (limit to 1–2 per section)
- [ ] Sufficient white space between sections
- [ ] Font size at least 16px for body text
- [ ] High contrast between text and background

Visual Elements to Include:

- [ ] Hero image or product photo at the top
- [ ] 3–5 high-quality product images
- [ ] Lifestyle images showing product in use
- [ ] Customer testimonial graphics
- [ ] Icons for benefits section
- [ ] Comparison table (if relevant)
- [ ] Video demonstration (if available)

Benefits vs. Features Translation Table

Use this worksheet to transform features into benefits:

Example: Waterproof material	Stay dry in any weather	Feel confident and comfortable
1. _____	_____	_____
2. _____	_____	_____
3. _____	_____	_____
4. _____	_____	_____
5. _____	_____	_____

How to use this:

1. List your product features in column 1
2. Ask "So what does this mean for the customer?" and fill column 2
3. Ask "How does this make them feel?" and fill column 3
4. Lead with column 2 & 3 in your copy, then mention column 1 as proof

06 STEP 5: Show, Don't Just Tell

Visual Content Planning Worksheet

Product Photos You Need:

Primary Photos:
